Below is my bio:

Ms. Glasgal is married to Peter Levy and is the proud mother two children, ages 8 and 10. Her professional life began following the completion of her degree in Computer Science from Cornell University, College of Engineering. She worked in New York for Anderson Consulting (now Accenture) helping businesses implement custom and packaged software systems to improve operations. She worked in both her father's business as a programmer and her husband's business as operations manager. In 2003, the family relocated to Jacksonville where Kim is currently working at the Martin J Gottlieb Day School as the Technology Coordinator, responsible for maintaining over 100 computers, network administration, and software installation.

Kim serves as the Treasurer of the Duval County Democratic Executive Committee, Chairperson of the Development Committee for the Martin J Gottlieb Day School, Vice President of Education for the Jacksonville Jewish Center Sisterhood, and serves on the Board of the Democratic Women's Information Network.
